

“ Taking my first step transitioning from academia to industry through PNCWA's WAVE program was such an invaluable experience. I was impressed by the friendliness of all the people and truly revitalized by the open heart for cooperation and knowledge-sharing between the companies and the people in this industry.

WAVE

The PNCWA Conference was the first professional conference I attended, and I was very honored to be part of this with the WAVE cohort. It was a unique experience seeing how many people in our community care about having clean water for future generations and this was also a very fun opportunity to network with no pressure.

“ The WAVE program was a great opportunity to build connections within the PNCWA community. At the conference, it was very rewarding to be at the table with experienced professionals in the water industry and not only learn from them but also have our voices heard. I hope to continue to be a part of the PNCWA community and help future WAVE cohorts.
